Johns Hopkins Colored Orphan Asylum

by
Jane Sears

This institution was established during the Civil War as a home for colored children by the Society of Friends. As a member of the society, Johns Hopkins believed in their beliefs of one's personal education. In 1852, he was one of the managers of the State Asylum for the Insane, which stood on the site of the oldest building of Johns Hopkins Hospital. On August 27, 1867, Johns Hopkins incorporated the Johns Hopkins Hospital, the Johns Hopkins University and the Johns Hopkins Colored Orphan Asylum. The orphan asylum was located at 206 and 208 West Biddle Street (Baltimore City address changes in 1887 to 517 and 519 West Biddle Street) and later at the corner of Remington Avenue and 31st Street. It was supported by a legacy from the Johns Hopkins estate.

The purpose of the Asylum was for the caring of colored orphans which were mostly females from the ages of 2 to 13. When they were old enough, they were trained in all branches of household duties. Later they were taught reading, writing, arithmetic, spelling, physiology, geography, morals and manners. A cooking school was later opened for the older girls. The person putting a girl into the orphanage was required to relinquish all claims to her until she reached the age of 18. When she became 18 they could claim her, if they wanted too.

In a letter dated March 10, 1873, Johns Hopkins gave written instructions to his 12 trustees of the Johns Hopkins Hospital with detailed directions regarding the Asylum.

- 1) Have suitable buildings for the reception, maintenance and education of orphan colored children.
- 2) Accomodate between 300 to 400 children.
- 3) Admit colored children who have lost only one parent.
- 4) Admit children who are in need of charity.
- 5) Fund a yearly sum of $20,000 to maintain the orphan home.

"Each succeeding year during my life until the hospital buildings are fully completed and in readiness to receive patients, place at your disposal the sum of one hundred thousand dollars. In addition to the gift already made to you of the 13 acres of land in the city of Baltimore on which the Hospital to be built. I have dedicated to its support and the payment of the annual sum provided to be paid for the support of the 'Orphans Home, property which you may safely estimate as worth to-day two million of dollars and from which your corporation will certainly receive a yearly revenue of one hundred and twenty thousand dollars'".

Johns Hopkins died on Christmas Eve of 1873. In his last will and testament that was dated July 9, 1873, he also gives additional instructions to his trustees. Part of his will is listed below that refers to the orphanage.

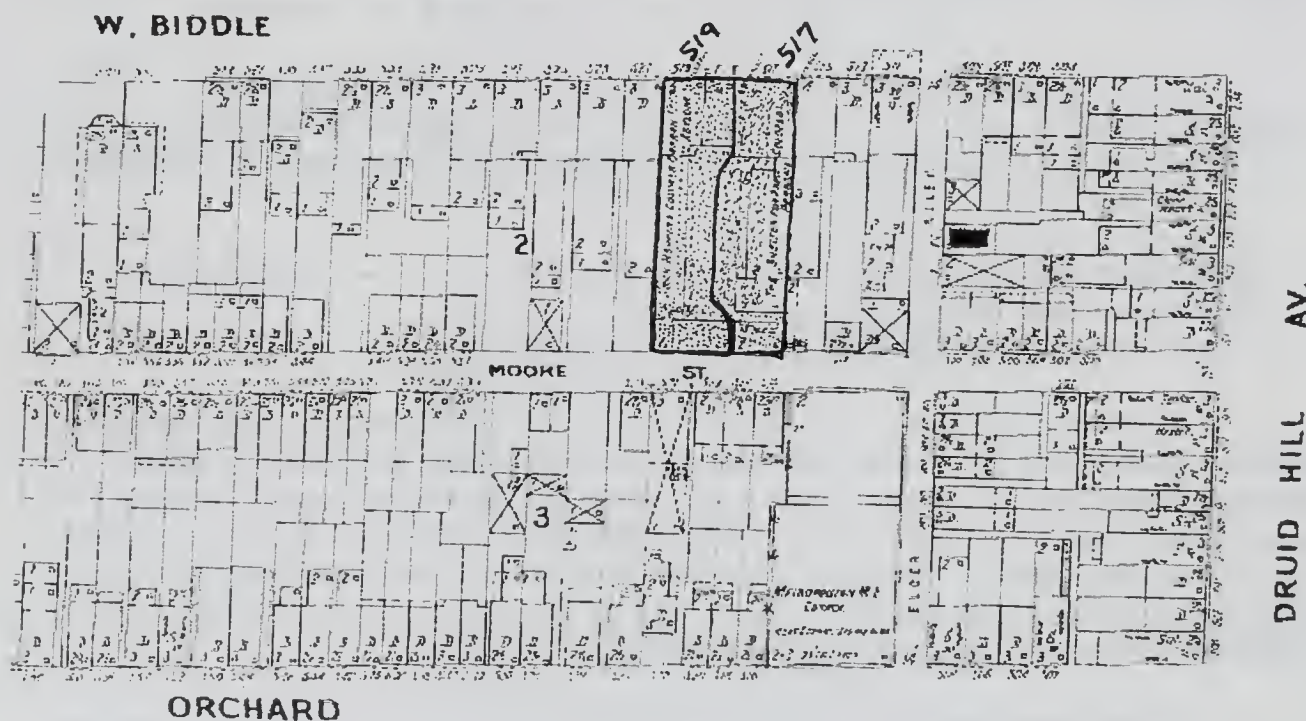

"And as I am of the opinion that the ward, or building, to be under the control of the said Hospital, which is to be erected for the reception and care of colored orphan children, ought also to be opened for the reception and proper training of destitute colored children, and that said ward ought moreover, to be separated wholly, and built at a distance from, the wards, or building, intended for sick poor white persons, or of sick poor colored persons; and also for authority to receive and care for destitute colored children, in such building; but it shall be the duty of the said trustees of the said 'The Johns Hopkins Hospital' to supervise the concerns, interests and wants of all the several wards, or subdivisions, may be located, in such manner that the interests and wants of each of said subdivisions, or wards, may be fully and impartially protected and promoted and I desire that the said trustees of the said 'The Johns Hopkins Hospital' shall make ample provision out of the property, real and personal by this my last will and testament devised and bequested to the said 'The J.H.H.', not only for the ward, or building intended for the use of sick poor white persons, and for the use of sick poor colored person and for the care of such inmates, and for the ward, or building intended for the reception and care of colored orphans and destitute children, as aforesaid:".

Thru the years there was a decline of girls in the orphanage. The training and care of them was becoming unsatisfactory. In 1913 the policy of the institution changed. There were 40 girls left that were placed in private homes or in industrial and domestic schools. Each girls care and supervision was the job of a social worker. In January 1917, the orphanage ceased to exist. It was changed to a convalescent home for crippled children. Most of these children were operated on by physicans of the John Hopkins Hospital.

The name was changed to "The Johns Hopkins Hospital School and Convalescent Home for Crippled Colored Children". In closed its doors on June 1st, 1918.

The Stanborn Fire Map for Baltimore City Volume 2, 1901 shows Johns Hopkins Colored Orphan Asylum at 519 W. Biddle Street between Druid Hill Avenue and Pennsylvania to left (not shown).

We are not sure what the tokens were used for, but likely they were used in the Arithmetic classes.

THE J.S. FARREN TOKEN OF BALTIMORE.

BY W. WALLACE STONE R- 47.

In David E. Schenkman's book, "Maryland Merchant Tokens", the token of the J.S. Farren & Co. is catalogued and described as follows. "This oyster and fruit packing business, owned by John S. and William Farren, operated from the 1860's until about 1913. It was located at the corner of Aliceanna and Boston Sts." The tokens are listed as F40-1 and F 40-5 both are brass and are 20 and 24 mm in size with the F40-5 being the larger.

In trying to obtain additional information about this company I was led to the directory of Chemung County, New York for the year 1866 and the city of Elmira in particular. The Wait Brothers directory of that year has a listing for the J.S. Farren Co. as an oyster and fruit dealer with a city address of 137 East Water Street. This address remained the same through "Boyd's Directories" for the ensuing years until 1882. In that year the address changed to 114 West Water Street. Noted in the 1874 directory, the population of Elmira was shown as 21,610 and also listed a total of 5 dealers in fish, oysters and clams. All five dealers being located within a short distance of one another, near the confluence of the Chemung River and Chemung Canal. The 1866 directory makes reference to the company as having an operation in Baltimore. However, no further information was listed as to size, location or any other business features of the Baltimore branch.

From the Calvert County Md. archives and tourist information center additional past history of the Farren Co. was brought to light centering in and around Solomon's Island. "Isaac Solomon (1819-1895) had established a canning factory in Baltimore by 1860; in 1861, he was credited with the first application to commercial canning of an earlier discovery of adding calcium chloride to water in order to increase the boiling temperature from 212 degrees Fahrenheit to 240 degrees Fahrenheit or high. This reduced the processing time for canning from four or five hours to only thirty or forty minutes. Isaac Solomon's purchase of "Sandy Island" (now Solomons Island) allowed him to expand his canning operation and locate closer to the oyster grounds. He leased small lots on the island to many persons who paid a yearly rent varying from $9.00 to 21.00. There was even an association known as the Alpha Building Association of Solomons which may have come into existence as an agency from which persons could borrow money to build homes on the land they had purchased. By 1880 the census listed 51 different households and 237 residents. Local tradition holds that the Solomons fishing fleet exceeded 500 vessels, many locally built.

Isaac Solomon's enterprise collapsed in the mid 1870's, in large part due to the failure of the proposed railroad from Baltimore to Drum Point (near Solomons), and he lost the Island to Baltimore creditors. In 1879, most of Solomons Island and the cannery were bought by John S. Farren Company and Thomas R. Moore for $6,225. Mr Farren was owner of the New Haven, Connecticut, J.S. Farren Company which opened an oyster canning house in Baltimore and decided to buy Solomons holding as a branch facility. Capt. Thomas Moore, owner of the largest private fleet of vessels in Maryland was looking for a suitable harbor where he could establish a repair and maintenance facility for his nearly 200 vessels. Moore sold his interest in the island at auction in 1892 for $10,000 to Burdette H. Farren, brother of John, and their two sisters. The Farrens immediately invested more money into the island, when in 1893 a new two story warehouse was built near the steamboat wharf, and a 1,323 foot long bulkhead was constructed along the lower, eastern end of the island." Land records after 1905 are difficult to locate and inconclusive at best.

Through the Maryland State Archives Index , Volume 476 page 141, there is notice in a long list of Maryland firms paying fees to the State Treasurer for the year 1902, the J.S. Farren and Company is noted as erroneously having paid the State Treasurer the sum of $514.41 since April 6, 1894. A check with the 1903 edition of the Baltimore City Directory found the company listed as an oyster canner and their address as "foot of Wolf Street". The Farren Company was also found in a much later volume dated in 1921, this was volume 285 page 131, recorded in the annual report of the comptroller for what was called the "Franchise Tax", the amount was $10.00 and the due date was stated as September 30, 1921. By this time the company had become incorporated as recorded by the comptroller's office. No mention is made as to the nature of the business. The final listing in the Baltimore City Directory was in 1921 and this listed their address as "foot of Webster Street", however no business affiliation had been indicated, simply their name. I will venture to say that they were still in the canning industry.

So, for after sixty years of business in downtown Baltimore, the J.S. Farren Company had closed their doors after moving numerous times from the Aliceanna Street address to 2323 Boston Street in 1887, to Wolfe Street in 1903 and finally to Webster Street just prior to 1920.

The Joel and Julius Gutman Tokens of Baltimore

BY, W. WALLACE STONE R-47

Last year during the 2004 winter season while doing research on a Maryland token from Baltimore, the “Electric Park token”, at the Maryland State Court of Appeals Building in Annapolis, which hosts the “law library”, I was fortunate to locate some additional information on two other Baltimore merchants. The law library has for use by the general public at no cost, the editions of the Baltimore Sun newspaper from the year 1837 through the current year on micro film. This is a very useful tool to use if you have a particular date mentioned on a token or commemorative issued medal. Chances are the Sun will have an article dealing in some depth with these events

While scanning through back issues I came across a number of advertisements from the Baltimore dry goods merchants' Joel and Julius Gutman. Photo copies are available to be made while you are there. Listed below are some from the 1897 October 5th edition, and a few years later the 1919 listing for December 14th and 21st. With additional help from the Jewish Museum of Maryland, located in downtown Baltimore, it was verified that while in business for a number of years simultaneously, Joel and Julius Gutman were not related.

Joel Gutman was born in 1830 and died at the age of 62 in the year 1892. Julius Gutman was born in 1849 and died in 1921 at the age of 72. Interesting to note that the father of Joel, Moses Gutman was born in 1800 and died in the same year as his son, that being 1892. The earlier store, that of Joel Gutman, established in 1852 had always carried the reputation of a "fancy and high grade store". The Julius Gutman store came later in 1877 and was known as a "bargain store", or as a contemporary slang word at that time would have been called "cheap side".

EDITORIAL CORRECTION

An article in the last edition of the Maryland TAMS Journal, entitled "The Joel and Julius Gutman tokens of Baltimore" stated that Joel and Julius Gutman were not related. Several days after members received their issues I had a phone call from our editor with information from a third party with knowledge of the Gutman family of Baltimore requesting that I contact him. In so doing I was informed by Mr. Tom Gordon, a great grandson of Mr. Joel Gutman, that indeed Joel and Julius were second cousins. Joel was instrumental in arranging passage for Julius from Europe to America. Thanks to Mr. Tom Gordon we now have more up to date information regarding the Gutman tokens From Baltimore.....W. The Reorganization Sale is so successful because it is based on good faith.

It continues all this week, and we will have plenty of bargains—bargains that require no apology.

The Sale has brought enormous crowds to the store—everybody who came saved considerably on merchandise of standard quality.

It will be profitable to visit every department in the store, for each has its quota of attractions.

The September 2, 1907 edition of the Baltimore Sun featured this ad related to the reorganization of the Joel Gutman & Co.

TownMall of Westminster Holiday Bonus Bucks

Millard W. Hajek

Shoppers earned "Holiday Bonus Bucks" by spending bucks and helped neighbors in need this holiday season. For the second year, Town Mall (formerly Cranberry Mall) located at 400 N. Center Street in Westminster, Maryland has offered (1) Holiday Bonus Buck for every $10 in receipts turned in to the Customer Service Desk from November 1, 2004 to January 8, 2005. At the conclusion of the holiday season, shoppers used their earned Holiday Bonus Bucks to bid on great gifts such as a four-day, five night Hawaiian Vacation sponsored by Special Journey Travel Agency, $100 shopping spree from Belk, Boscov's and Sears, and other fabulous prizes from TownMall of Westminster merchants during the Holiday Bonus Bucks Auction which was held on January 15, 2005 at 2 p.m. At the conclusion of the auction, Holiday Bonus Bucks were counted and 5% of the total (maximum of $5,000) was converted to real dollars and donated to Neighbors in Need in Carroll County.

The Holiday Bonus Bucks came in denominations of $1, $5, $10, $20, $50, and $100. Illustrated below is a sample of the $1 Holiday Bonus Buck. The front of the buck is colored deep red on a white background with the e-mail address at the bottom in black. The back is printed in black ink with Holiday Bonus Bucks and TownMall of Westminster in red on white background. The right half of the buck is printed on a pale red.

Thank you for participating in our Holiday Bonus Bucks Promotion. Be sure to bring your Bonus Bucks to TownMall of Westminster's Holiday Bonus Bucks Auction on Saturday, January 15, 2005, and use your Bonus Bucks to bid on fabulous prizes ranging in value from $25 to $3000, valuable merchandise from Boscov's, Belk and Sears, a weekend at the Tropicana Resort, Regal Theatre Tickets, and more! Double your "Bucks" every Tuesday and Thursday. Receipts must be redeemed the same day.

Best of all, by using your Holiday Bonus Bucks you will be making a contribution to the community. The day of the Auction, TownMall will convert Bonus Bucks to real dollars and donate a portion of the total to benefit Carroll County's Neighbors in Need.

LUNA PARK

By
Jane Sears
(Edited by Russ Sears)

The Luna Park Amusement Company opened an amusement park in 1910. The park had a roller coaster, merry-go-round, casino, bowling alleys, shooting gallery, racer dip, ferris wheel and dance floor.

Excerpts from the Baltimore Sun series (50 Years ago).

Sunday February 7, 1960 (50 years ago)

Plans are being formulated for a new amusement park at the west end of the Baltimore street car line. The park will be known as LUNA PARK, and will be operated by the Luna Park Amusement Company. The land is part of the old Shipley estate, and is located at the northeast corner of Garrison Avenue and West Baltimore Street.

Sunday July 24, 1960 (50 years ago)

Every building at LUNA PARK, West Baltimore Street, near Garrison Lane, with the exception of the carrousel, was destroyed by fire shortly after midnight this morning. The loss is estimated at $35,000 which is partly covered by insurance.

At one time there were more than 10 amusemnet centers around the city. To name a few, Riverview Park, Electric Park, Bay Shore Park, Carlin's Frederick Road Park, Wonderland Park, West End Park, Hollywood Park, and LUNA PARK.

Across the street from Luna Park was West End Park. It had a dance pavilion and bowling alley built by Gustav Graubner in 1899. He also conducted a saloon and bottling plant there, at the southeast corner of Cemetery Lane and N. Garrison Lane.
